Introduction:

Palestinians in general, face attempts by the Israeli occupation to “Israelize” the curriculum in Jerusalem and to erase the Palestinian national identity, through various measures. This is amid scarce financial resources, substandard buildings, and largely unsuitable educational facilities, in addition to the multitude of references associated with education in Jerusalem.

This factsheet focuses on the status of education in the city in terms of student and school distribution and approved curriculum, with a focus on the right of girls to education.

Facts and figures:

Based on findings by the Jerusalem Affairs Unit for 2018-2019, 59.2% of all schools are overseen by the Palestinian Ministry of Education in East Jerusalem and suburbs under Israeli jurisdiction. In contrast, 40.8% of schools are overseen by the Israeli Ministry of Education and the illegal [Israeli] Jerusalem municipality.

There is a shortage of 3,794 classrooms in Jerusalem (Palestinian and Israeli schools) including 2,100 in Palestinian schools alone or 55.3%.

The distribution of schools under the supervision of the Palestinian Ministry of Education is as follows: 35.3% private schools, 21.4% Islamic Waqf schools, and 2.5% UNRWA-run schools. Meanwhile, 9.7% of schools are run by the Israeli Education Ministry and illegal municipality, recognized as contracted ‘semi-government’ schools and 31.1% are directly under the jurisdiction of the Israeli Education Ministry and illegal municipality, according to 2020-2021 data.

Reference	Number of schools/Number of students
Waqf-run Schools	51 girls and boys schools/ 10,851 students
Private Schools	84 girls and boys schools/33,684 students
UNRWA-run schools	6 girls and boys schools/1,953 students
Schools under direct Israeli supervision	74 girls and boys schools/40,573 students

Interviews with students, experts and parents:

Interviews were individually conducted with 20 students and 10 students in a focus group.

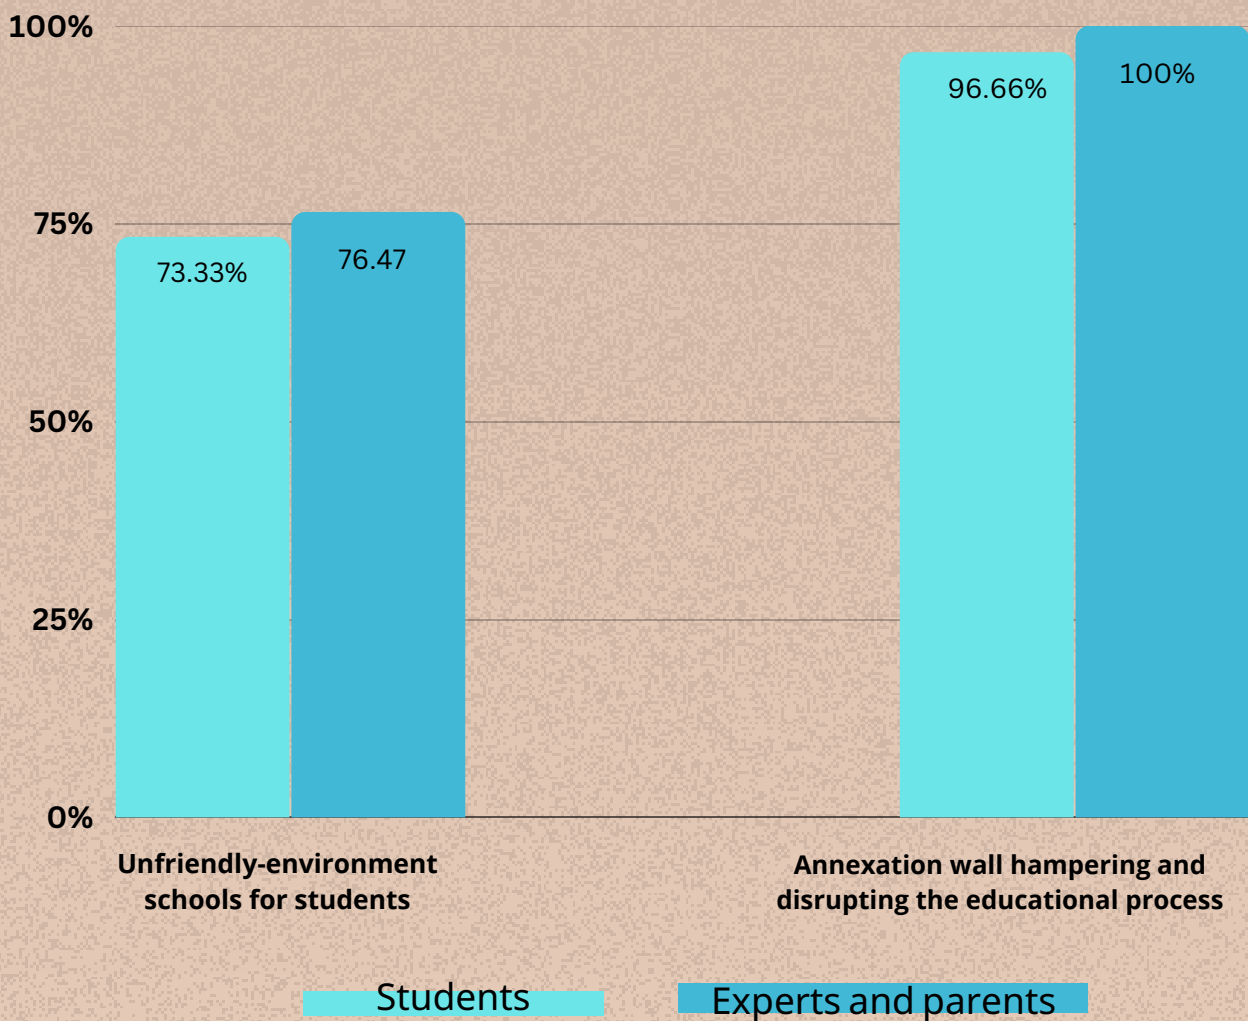

The individual interviews were intentional in that the researcher approached students who were subjected to one form of harassment. However, during the interviews, it became apparent that most of the girls had been subjected to more than one form of harassment. The interviews also included 17 involved individuals: six school principals, two counselors, three experts (one male and two female) and six parents (two men and four women).

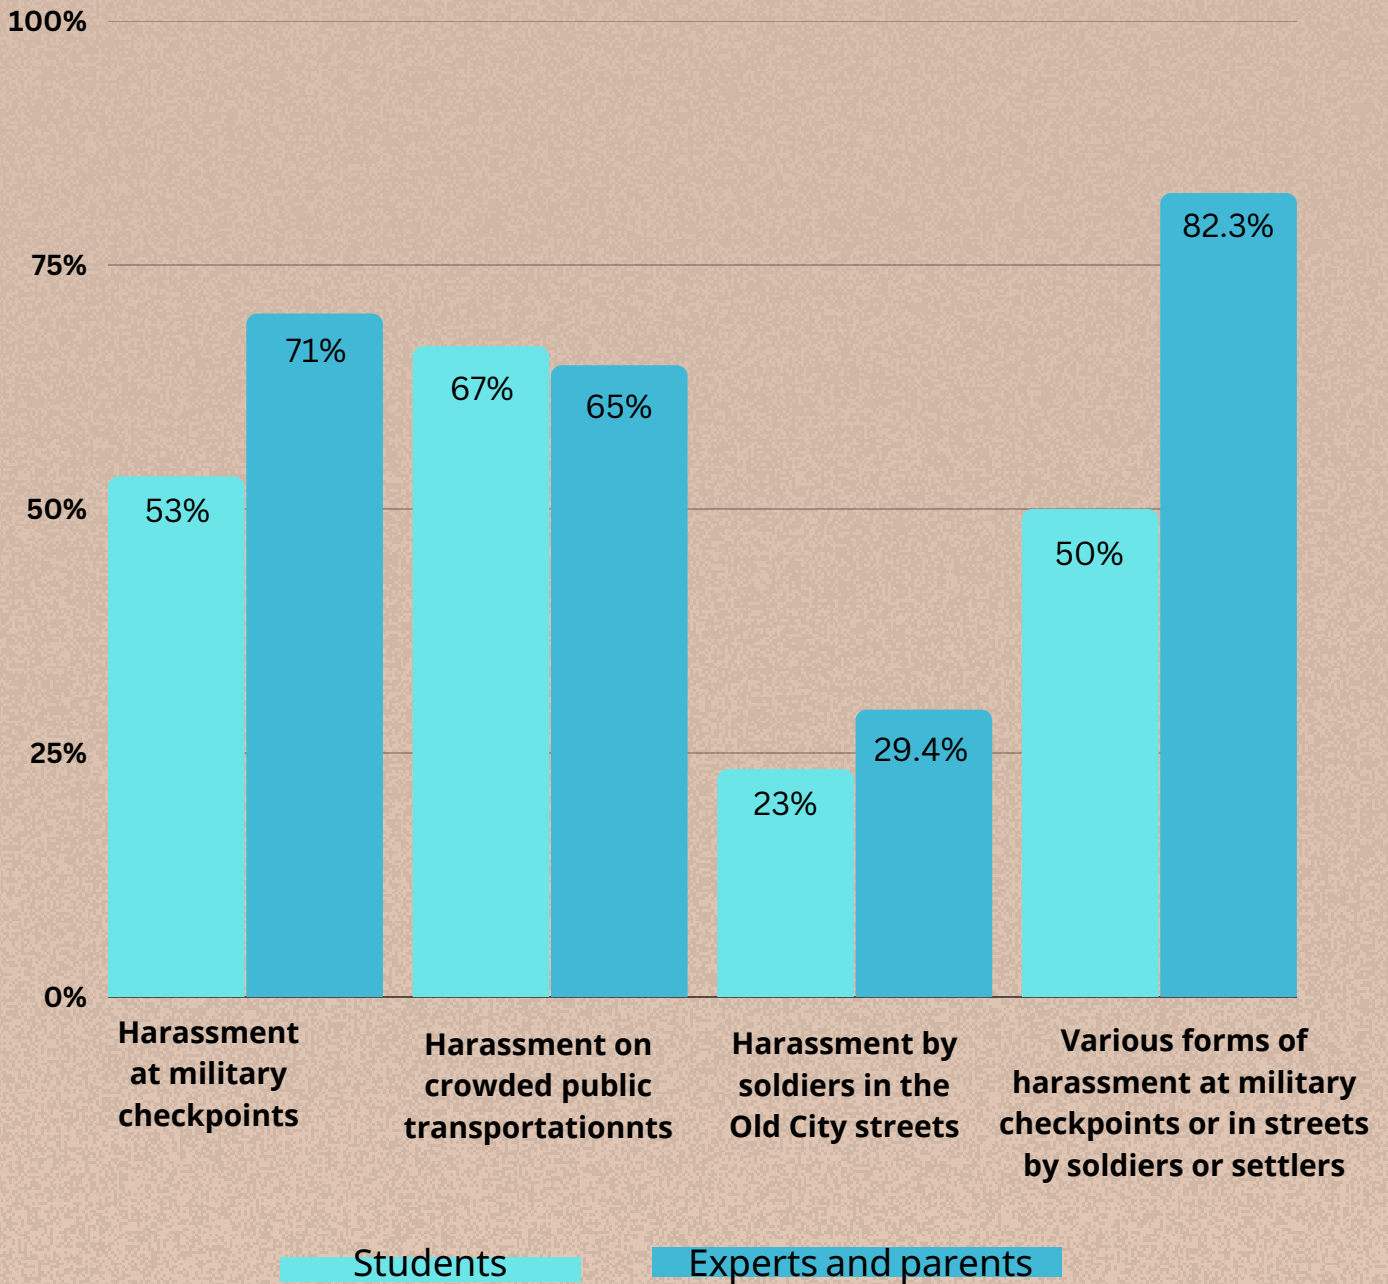

Interview results:

- Unfriendly-environment schools for students...the role of the annexation wall in hampering and disrupting the educational process in occupied Jerusalem

Subject	Students	Percentage	Experts and parents	Percentage
Unfriendly-environment schools for students	22	73.33%	13	76.47%
Annexation wall hampering and disrupting the educational process	29	96.66%	17	100%
