

PIONEERS & CHURCH INFLUENCERS

These pioneers of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints traveled westward from Illinois to escape religious persecution and build a prosperous society of their own in today's state of Utah. Upon arrival in 1847, these determined individuals immediately set to work in developing the Salt Lake Valley and beyond with rapid success. Later generations of Latter-day Saint settlers, many listed here who were buried in the Salt Lake City Cemetery, have also had tremendous influence on their religious community and the history of the state.
