Automatic payments authorization agreement

You're authorizing automatic payments with Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. DBA Wells Fargo Auto. Please note it may take up to two months for the first automatic payment to draft. Continue to make your monthly payment until your Autopay starts. If you cancel your Autopay, or if Wells Fargo Auto cancels it, please make regular monthly payments through one of the payment options available. For a list of payment options, visit wellsfargo.com/auto-loans/make-payments.

Payment due date

Your Autopay will continue to withdraw on your payment due date each month until your account is paid in full or until you notify Wells Fargo Auto that you want to cancel or change this authorization. If you change your payment due date, Wells Fargo Auto will withdraw the payment on the new payment due date.

If your payment is due on the 29th, 30th, or 31st of a given month that doesn't have these calendar days, Wells Fargo Auto will withdraw your payment on the last day of that month. If your Autopay is scheduled on a Sunday or holiday, Wells Fargo Auto will withdraw your payment on the next business day.

Payments applied to loan balance

If your account is past due, payments will first be applied to the past due amount. If you've elected to have an amount withdrawn that's more than your regular monthly payment, and your account is current, the additional amount will be applied to the principal balance. This may reduce the amount of interest you pay over the term of the auto loan.

If your payment amount changes for any reason, such as for rate relief under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, or a change under a variable rate plan, Wells Fargo Auto will adjust the Autopay amount accordingly. Any additional principal payment amount previously set up will be applied to the principal balance and won't be modified unless you request it.

Returned payments

If an automatic payment is returned unpaid, Wells Fargo Auto will attempt to withdraw the payment from your bank account one more time. Your bank may charge a fee each time your payment is returned to us unpaid. Late fees may be assessed if your payment isn't received on time. If Wells Fargo Auto is ultimately unable to withdraw the automatic payment, make a payment through other means to remain current on your account.

Automatic payment cancellation

To cancel your Autopay schedule, complete and return this form to us by mail or fax. You can also sign on to your account at wellsfargo.com, select manage on your payment details screen, and choose delete payment. You should allow at least three business days before your next Autopay payment date or your payment may still process. If you cancel your Autopay and wish to sign up later, you can create a new schedule.

Wells Fargo Auto may cancel your Autopay schedule for any reason, including:

- Auto account becomes 60 days delinquent
- The bank account is closed or invalid
- Funds aren't available after multiple automatic payment withdrawal attempts
- Wells Fargo Auto is unable to complete the automatic payment withdrawal
- Borrower or co-borrower files for bankruptcy protection
- Vehicle associated with the account is deemed a total loss by the insurance company

Changes to automatic payments

To change your automatic payments, complete and return this form to us by mail or fax. You can sign on to your account at wellsfargo.com and select manage on your payment details screen. Then simply delete your current schedule and create a new one. You can also call us at 1-800-289-8004. You should allow at least three business days before your next Autopay payment date or your payment may still process.

Account payoff

If your final payment shown on your monthly statement is less than the amount you've authorized to withdraw, Wells Fargo Auto will process the lesser amount. If you intend to pay off your account early, please cancel your automatic payments at least three days prior to your payment due date.
