INTEGRATED MODE OF TEACHING & LEARNING

Our teaching-learning approach incorporates syndicate learning, case studies, regular assessments and immersion in real-life industry projects designed to deepen students' knowledge in a particular area of interest and to expose them to the real world scenarios.

Workshops, Seminars, Guest Lectures, Industry Interface - Each semester will have regular interface with industry facilitators and experts in the areas of English, Journalism and Mass Communication, Fashion Design and Entrepreneurship etc. Regular interactions with industry professionals across different areas of interest and industry visits are planned based on the curricula of the semesters. The program also includes Interactive Online and Offline sessions where students can participate and interact creatively.

Speaker Series - Speaker series is conducted every semester. The speakers involved are from private, public and educational sectors who educate via presentations on relevant issues related to Humanities.

Case Study - For the majority of courses across the curricula of different semesters, case studies are a regular part of the program. The students are taught through real time, latest / current Case studies - discussed and analysed for better understanding of the subject. In various creative courses, assignments are based on these case studies.

Exhibits and Displays - The School of Humanities has various creative courses which have various tangible outcomes. Hence there are regular exhibits and visual displays of students' work and projects online, offline at the university level. This gives a wider horizon for appreciation and peer learning.

Learning Forums - Various monthly learning forums are conducted online and offline for the students and faculty members for overall enhancement of learning and teaching. Their sessions can be varied topics such as education, health, motivation, etc. The idea is to support the learning environment according to the need of the situation.
