

W MARINE BIOLOGY

2020 GRADUATION

JUNE 13, 2020

COLLEGE OF THE ENVIRONMENT | UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

CONGRATULATIONS CLASS OF 2020!

It is with deep pride, joy and honor that we present the first graduating class of the Marine Biology major. We welcome our graduates into our academic ranks and we celebrate with them their outstanding achievements. We especially acknowledge and thank the community that supported our students, their loved ones and friends. Your graduate is a testament to your dedication and strength.

The Marine Biology Major is the result of a highly creative partnership between the School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, the School of Oceanography and Friday Harbor Laboratories. As such, the Major brings together a diverse and unrivalled set of subjects in the Marine Sciences, taught by a highly dedicated faculty. We honor our students for the deep commitment that they have shared with us and wish them the very best in their future lives.

—Kerry Naish, *Professor
Director of Marine Biology, College of the Environment*

CLASS OF 2020

Rayn Marie Allen
Bachelor of Science, Majors in Marine Biology and Oceanography

Andrew Thomas Chin ° *
Bachelor of Science, Majors in Marine Biology and Aquatic & Fishery Sciences; Minors in Oceanography and Urban Ecological Design

Nathan Lokyin Chung
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Katie L. Hearther ∞
Bachelor of Science, Majors in Marine Biology and Oceanography; Minor in Arctic Studies

Ryan James
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Jacob Kirschner
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Delacey Grace Machus
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Vanessa Murakami
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Alana Santana
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Angel Sar
Bachelor of Science, Majors in Marine Biology and Aquatic & Fishery Sciences

James Schenk
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology; Minor in Quantitative Science

Elena Subbotin °
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology; Minor in Environmental Studies

Megan Champlain Swanger
Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology

Sanna Erikson Titus
*Bachelor of Science, Major in Marine Biology;
Minor in Chemistry*