

Bridging the Digital Divide: Empowering Families, Building Community

In Eastern Washington, the Warden School District used a Digital Navigation grant from OSPI to host sessions aimed at helping parents and caregivers become more comfortable with technology.

The district hosted six training sessions beginning in April 2024. District staff organized childcare and provided food during the sessions to make it easier for families to attend. All sessions were available in both English and Spanish.

"I wrote my first email all on my own, my daughter leaves for college this fall and now I am so relieved that I won't have to be bothering her while she is busy at school to help me write emails."

Participants learned to operate different programs including Microsoft Office, Skyward, and ClassLink. They also received instruction on how to use email and how to stay safe on the internet.
