SEA WALLS: ARTISTS FOR OCEANS

ABOUT THE EVENT

Sea Walls: Artists for Oceans is PangeaSeed Foundation's ground-breaking public art project that brings the sea to the streets around the world. We collaborate with some of today's most renowned contemporary artists to create inspirational murals which address pressing environmental issues that the oceans are facing by forging a synthesis between public art, nature, and society. With the help from our growing community of 250+ supporting artists, we continue to bring attention to the global plight of our oceans through ARTivism and are fostering a new breed of conservation through community engagement and empowerment. Over the past five years, we have painted more than 400 murals in 15 countries across the globe, spanning from hard-to-reach corners of the Subarctic to the South Pacific, the Coral Triangle, the Americas, New Zealand and more.

In 2020, we painted seven large-scale public murals in East Boston as a pilot for a larger, powerful new collection of installations to be installed in 2021. We've been hearing an outcry for more public art in the Boston region. Through Sea Walls Boston, presented by Linda Cabot, we aim to put our city on the map of the international public art scene, enriching the lives our local residents and serving as an exciting incentive for travelers and tourists to visit the region. Our coastal community holds a strong connection with the ocean, and along with adding a beautiful aesthetic to public spaces, these works communicate thought-provoking messages to our broad collection of water-based cultures: sailing, fishing, whale watching, boating, kite boarding, surfing — playing, learning, and exploring.

WHO WE ARE

PANGEASEED FOUNDATION

Our mission is to empower individuals and communities to create meaningful environmental change for oceans through ARTivism, education, and science.

PangeaSeed Foundation is an international non-profit organization acting at the intersection of culture and environmentalism to further the conservation of our oceans.

ARTIVISM is a perfect synergy of ART + ACTIVISM, designed to educate and raise public awareness to critical environmental issues by means of art. We believe that art, design, and digital media can transcend cultural and linguistic boundaries, inspiring positive global change.

Now, more than ever, we believe the synthesis between creative expression, nature, and society can powerfully (re)connect communities with the planet's most important ecosystem.

PangeaSeed Foundation is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt organization and contributions made to the organization are tax deductible to the extent permitted by U.S. law.

MEET THE CREW

TRE PACKARD Founder & Executive Director

Tré has traveled throughout Asia documenting some of the most remote locations bringing to light never before documented fisheries contributing to the destruction of ocean ecosystems and the often illegal trade of threatened marine life.

These experiences coupled with his interest in contemporary art led him to establish PangeaSeed Foundation in 2009 to cultivate a new era in marine conservation.

AKIRA BIONDO Operations Director

Akira, originally from Switzerland, holds a BA in Sustainability Studies and a BA in Cultural Anthropology. Her passion for the environment stems from her extensive travels across the globe, and experiencing first hand, man's impact on the planet.

She joined PangeaSeed Foundation in 2010, and has been part of the core team ever since. She is committed to leading by example and inspiring others to live more sustainably.

MATTHEW POLLOCK Project Director, Sea Walls Boston

Matthew Pollock was born in Boston and has lived in Eastie since 2011. After discovering the power and beauty of the Sea Walls global campaign, he has decided to bring the festival to the Boston waterfront.

Matt works full time as a brand designer and creative director. Matt's been involved in Boston's public art scene for nearly a decade supporting HarborArts, producing events and festivals, and collaborating with organizations like Boston Harbor Now, ZUMIX, FIGMENT, HubWeek, and Artists for Humanity, to name a few.

Matt is also the director of HarborArts, a creative initiative that since 2009 has been building a stage for dialogue through public art. Transforming the 14-acre Boston Harbor Shipyard & Marina into an outdoor gallery on the Harbor Walk representing local and international artists, HarborArts has brought thousands of visitors through the shipyard to explore the intersection of industry, community, and artistic expression.

LET'S WORK TOGETHER

In these uncertain times, public art is needed now more than ever. We are excited to align ourselves with you and the opportunity to partner together to create this amazing program, and uplift the community with colorful public installations. We are open to working collaboratively to create tailor-made partnership or sponsorship agreements which best promote your business and your involvement in Sea Walls Boston 2020.

Our sponsorship packages range from presenting sponsor and major title sponsorships, with naming rights associated with all marketing collateral with the festival, to sponsorships for side events and components of the festival, artist sponsorships, and in-kind/donation deal-based agreements.

Align with us in this global movement to support PangeaSeed Foundation's effort to save our seas, and put Boston on the map as a major cultural destination for public art. We greatly appreciate your help by joining us to raise awareness for the plight of our oceans.
