

Your parents are your best advocates!

Make sure that they join Parents for Charter Schools, a free membership organization for parents and guardians of Florida public charter school students.

Through Parents for Charter Schools, parents are organizing to write letters and meet with legislators to advocate for better charter school legislation and continued financial support of their children's charter schools.

Parents and guardians of children who attend Florida public charter schools represent the largest and most influential group of advocates in the state.

Invite your parents to join the movement today!
