Dedication

We, the staff of the 1960 Ontaroga fondly dedicate this edition not to any one person --- although we might easily have done so.

How can one dedicate all of the joyful moments of a whole student body to one single person, when those memories rightfully belong to all?

How can one pass down all our rich memories -- memories such as those of the face of Beech Mountain, circled in mist, mantled in snow, touched here and there with spring blossoms?

These memories, and all the others we so fondly hold in our hearts belong not to any one special person, but rightfully belong to these . . .

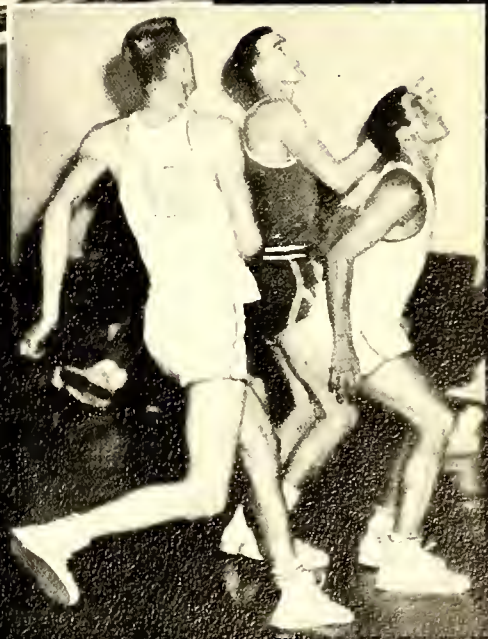

These, the students of
Lees-McRae

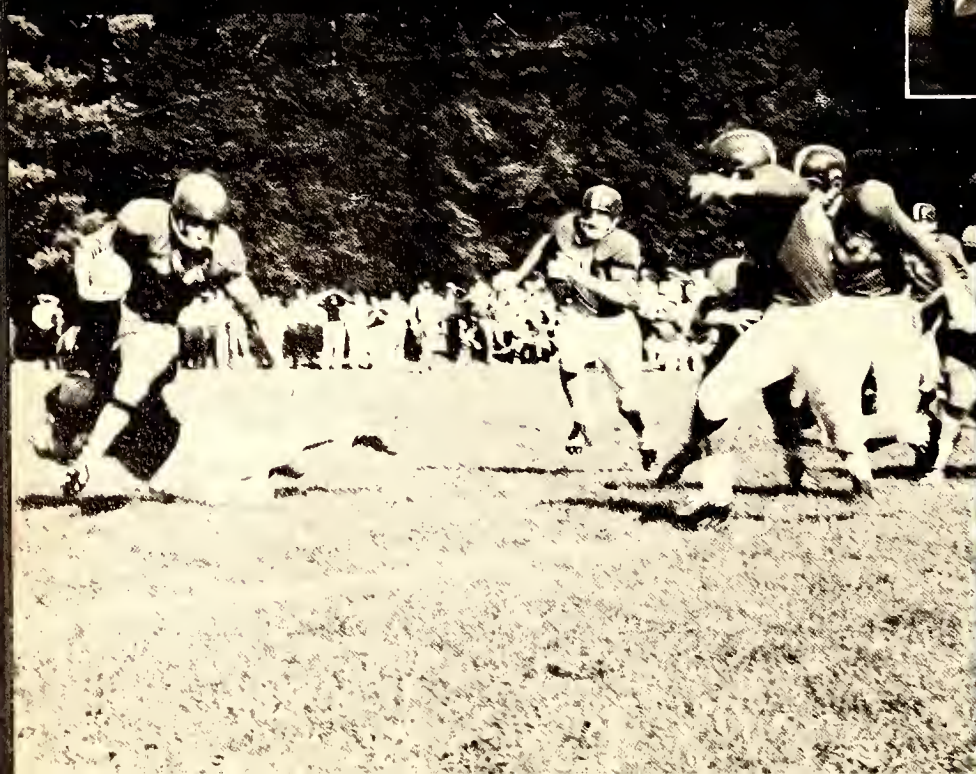

As they live...

Grow . . .

Compete . . .

Relax . . .

... In a variety of ways

DELTA PSI OMEGA and GREEN AND GOLD MASQUERS

Delta Psi Omega is a national honorary fraternity, the purpose of which is to reward those who have shown a special interest in, and an aptitude toward, dramatics, and to stimulate them to learn more about the art and drama.

The Green And Gold Masquers is the college's dramatics club, organized for the purpose of studying and presenting drama. Membership is limited to those who take active part in drama production. All students in the college are eligible to try out for any drama production except for an occasional performance which is cast by the members of the club.

- ◆ A dramatic moment from "Juliet and Romeo," directed by Mr. Poul Neal, college drama coach, and presented as a part of our Homecoming program. Priscillo Greene and Waightstill Aldridge are shown in the scene above.

- ◆ A record-sized crowd enthusiastically acclaimed this, the year's first production by our LMC drama group. "Juliet and Romeo" is a one-act comedy built around the romantic problems of two young Shakespearean actors.

- ◆ Lees-McRoe's first dramatic production of the year brought an outstanding cost to the stage of the A. C. Chaffee auditorium. The cost included, (besides Priscillo and Waightstill), Corol Ann Lowe, Wayne Eury and James Watson. Members of the stage crew included LeRoy Shelburne, Warren McColl and Ken Trovis.

The Bobcat Tales is the official student newspaper of Lees-McRae College which, as its masthead says, is "by and for the students of Lees-McRae."

This year sweeping changes were made in the format and general appearance of the publication. Instead of appearing on ordinary newsprint, the new version of Bobcat Tales was done on a glossy stock so that students could preserve a file of copies of the paper without fear that papers would yellow with age.

Several new columns were added to the student newspaper this year and old favorites were retained.

Ontaroga

Ontaroga is the yearbook of Lees-McRoe College. This year for the first time, co-editors were chosen, one from the freshman class, one from the sophomore class.

All persons working on the Ontaroga volunteered for their respective tasks. Assembling the yearbook is virtually a year-long job.

DeAnne Almond (above) was elected this year's editor of Ontaroga by her fellow staff members. She has worked the entire year, co-ordinating the activities of the members and the various departments which make up the annual.

Freshman editor of this year's Ontaroga was Elaine Ross (right) who, working side by side with sophomore editor DeAnne Almond, helped assemble the book you see here.

Rosalie Burnette (left) was this year's business manager. Through Rosalie's guidance, circulation was boosted considerably over previous years' sales and the sponsored pages section was added.

Court

Soon after the school year got underway, October 2, 3, and 4, Lees-McRae held its annual Homecoming --- one of the largest in the school's history. The homecoming queen and her court shown here reigned supreme over the 3-day event which saw the traditional homecoming game, the Saturday night dance, the alumni luncheon, and all the other things that go to make up the thrill-packed yearly affair.

Film Production . . .

This year, for the second time in its history, our college produced a sound-color movie. The picture, titled "In The Mountains Is A Place Called Home," tells the story of an orphan from our Grandfather Home for Children, who grows up and eventually graduates from our school.

Daisy Long, sophomore, appeared in the leading role in the picture, which was released in late November.

Warren McCall, college student photographer, did much of the work on the production, which was directed by Public Relations Director Eugene H. Fernettes.

WHO'S WHO

Replacing the sophomore superlative group from previous years' Ontaroga, is this new section, which your editors have called "Who's Who." At a chapel program during the year, members of the student body were asked to select six sophomore students who, in the opinion of the student body at large, had all or most of the following qualities: Friendliness, high scholastic standing, unselfish service to the college, high ideals, a respectful attitude, dependability and outstanding leadership. When votes were counted, a number of ties occurred, with the result that ten students were eventually selected to be honored in this section instead of six as originally planned.
