Police personnel keep vigil as Sanjay Roy, accused in the alleged rape and murder of an on-duty doctor at R G Kar Medical College and Hospital, is brought to the Sealdah court in police vehicle on the day of the verdict, in Kolkata PT

SAUGAR SENGUPTA KOLKATA

Kolkata Sessions Court on Saturday held prime accused Sanjoy Roy guilty in the RG Kar Medical College and Hospital rape and murder case.

The quantum of punishment will be pronounced on Monday, District and Sessions Judge of Sealdah Court Anirban Das told Roy in a 12minute hearing, adding that he had been held guilty in the case and could be condemned to death or imprisonment for life. Roy was convicted of rape under Section 64 of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), and murder under Sections 66 and 103(1).

The body of the victim, a 31year-old postgraduate lady doctor working in the Chest Medicine Department of the RGKMCH who was brutally raped and murdered, was discovered inside the seminar room of the said hospital in the wee hours of August 9 last year, triggering nationwide protests.

Subsequently, on the basis of punished.

So, justice hasn't been fully delivered. We are people of humble background and have nothing to lose so we will continue our fight for justice till the last day of our life."

The father of the victim, who had on Friday held the Mamata Banerjee guilty government of brushing the case under the carpet again, said, "I have many questions. Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee herself kept awake the whole night and supervised the investigation. Where was a need for her to do so? The investigation was nothing but an act of erasing evidence. The police destroyed evidence, which finally led to the other culprits either not getting arrested or two others getting bail. The entire medical fraternity knows that this rape and murder is not the work of only one person." Dr Utpal, a senior doctor who had been in the forefront of the movement, wondered why the investigating agencies had preferred to ignore forensic reports. What about the four DNA imprints that were found on the person of the victim. What about the forensic experts' comment that the murder might not have taken place at the place where the body of the victim was found. Why did the agencies not take into account the telephonic conversations that had taken place between the top police officers and some top political persons of the State

A few days after casting aspersions on the residents of Bihar and eastern UP by claiming that the BJP has faked voter lists in the names of Poorvanchalis, the ruling Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) on Saturday attempted to assuage the mollification directed at the one-third chunk of electors in Delhi. Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) national convener Arvind Kejriwal promised a freebie guarantee for tenants, allowing them free electricity and water if reelected to power, stating that the move would benefit the Poorvanchali brethren. We will ensure that after the elections. tenants, many of whom belong to the Purvanchal region, will also enjoy the benefits of free electricity and water," the former Delhi CM said.

Addressing a press conference, Kejriwal stated that tenants have been unable to access the free electricity and water scheme for several reasons. He emphasized that tenants are also part of Delhi's population, and the AAP will extend these benefits to them. The announcement comes as the Aam Aadmi Party ramps up its campaign for the Delhi assembly elections slated for February 5.

Wherever I go, I meet people living on rent who say they benefit from good schools and hospitals but are deprived of free electricity and water schemes. Across Delhi, we have provided free electricity and water to residents. However, it is unfortunate that tenants do not get these benefits. Today, I want to announce that after the elections, if our government is formed, we will introduce a system ensuring tenants also receive free electricity and water," Kejriwal said. The ruling AAP has proposed freebies including the Mahila Samman Yojna, Sanjeevani Yojna, free metro, free scholarships to Dalit students, salaries for pujaris and granthis, free metro rides for students, waivers in water bills, and funds for residents' welfare associations to recruit security guards, adding to its existing scheme and programs such as revamped government schools, mohalla clinics, and free electricity that the AAP government offers to citizens in Delhi.

In competition, the BJP, in its manifesto released on January 17, announced several aids, keeping women at the center of its poll pitch. The manifesto emphasizes women and promises Rs 2,500 monthly aid under the 'Mahila Samridhi Yojana.'

The BJP, in its manifesto, also announced Rs 21,000 and six nutrition kits for every pregnant woman under the 'Chief Minister Matritva Suraksha Yojana'. The party has also promised LPG cylinders at Rs 500 for the poor, with one free cylinder on Holi and Diwali.

Kejriwal car convoy attack; AAP, BJP exchange blows

RAJESH KUMAR NEW DELHI

With campaigning for the Delhi Assembly elections heating up, claims and counterclaims erupted between AAP and BJP as the former alleged that AAP convener Arvind Kejriwal's car was pelted with stones in New Delhi constituency on Saturday. However, BJP leader and New Delhi candidate Parvesh Verma refuted AAP's allegations, saying the AAP chief's car hit three youths who had been protesting against him. Verma claimed it was Kejriwal who asked the driver of the car to crush them.

"Fearing defeat, BJP panicked, got its goons to attack Arvind Kejriwal," the AAP, which has been ruling Delhi since 2013, posted on X within minutes of the attack on its leader.

The AAP convener also said the Delhi Police on Saturday stopped the screening of the Aam Aadmi Party's (AAP) documentary Unbreakable on January 18, citing non-compliance with election guidelines. AAP convener and former Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal accused the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) of using the Delhi Police to stop the screening. However, the Delhi Police denied these allegations. The Delhi Police said that "no permission" was taken for the screening of the documentary. The police emphasized that political parties must apply for permission for such events through a single-window system at the District Election Officer's (DEO) office. It further added that such permission could not be granted or rejected by the police at this time. The documentary Unbreakable, which AAP's journey during explores Kejriwal's leadership and the party's activities during and after his imprisonment, was scheduled to be screened at Pyarelal Bhawan, ITO, at 11:30 AM.

Delhi Police Crime Branch has apprehended Chanderkant Jha, a "serial killer" who had terrorised the national capital between 2006 and 2007 and evaded arrest for more than a year, an official said on Saturday. His case received a significant media attention and was subject of an OTT platform documentary "Indian documentary Predator: The Butcher of Delhi". "Jha was on the run after jumping parole in October 2023. The 57-yearold was arrested from Old Delhi Railway Station on Friday following an intensive operation," Additional Commissioner of Police (crime branch) Sanjay Kumar Sain said. Jha, who had been serving a life sentence for three murders, carried a bounty of Rs 50,000 for his capture, he said. The officer further said the Crime Branch formed a team which included senior police officers to locate Jha. "Over six months, the team traced Jha's network of family, friends, and associates. They conducted reconnaissance at his previous crime spots and interrogated individuals in fruit and vegetable mandis across Delhi-NCR, Haryana, Uttar Pradesh and Bihar, where Jha had once worked," said the Additional CP.

Thanks to Maha Kumbh, Uttar Pradesh's 75 districts unite to reap economic rewards

BISWAJEET BANERJEE MAHAKUMBH NAGAR

The Maha Kumbh in Prayagraj is not just a religious event; it has transformed into a massive economic engine driving growth across Uttar Pradesh. With preparations in full swing to welcome over 400 million pilgrims, the event has become a source of livelihood and opportunity for artisans, traders, and entrepreneurs from all 75 districts of the state. Over its 45day duration, this mega-event is expected to generate economic activity on a scale that rivals the GDP of some countries, with small-scale artisans and microenterprises alone securing orders worth Rs 10,000 crore.

"This is not just an event for the faithful; it's an economic festival," said Mahendra Goyal, Uttar Pradesh head of the Confederation of All India Traders (CAIT). "The state government's Rs 7,500 crore investment will generate at least ?25,000 crore in revenue and facilitate business worth Rs 2 lakh crore. It is a win-win for faith and the economy."

The demand for basic necessities such as groceries, edible oils, vegetables, dairy products, bedding, and hospitality services has surged. Entrepreneurs from districts like Kanpur, Varanasi, and Gautam Buddh Nagar are leading the charge, with key sectors like and groceries expected to generate Rs 4,000 crore and dairy products contributing Rs 4,200 crore. Speaking about the influx of opportunities, Ravi Tiwari, a vegetable supplier from Kanpur, shared, "The orders I have received for the Maha Kumbh are more than what I usually supply in six months. This event is a gamechanger for small businesses like mine.

Employment opportunities have also multiplied across various sectors. Neeraj Singhal, National President of the Indian Industries "The Association, remarked, demand for services such as hotels, restaurants, food stalls, air travel, railways, and road transportation has increased by nearly 80 times. Construction, security, sanitation, healthcare services are employing over 10,000 workers and unskilled laborers, with many of them coming from districts like Kushinagar, Maharajganj." Ballia. and

Congress' stance on Places of Worship Act against Sanatan culture: BJP

m he\ Bharatiya\ Janata\ Party}^{
m he\ Bharatiya\ Janata\ Party}$ taken by the Congress party in the matter of the Places of Worship Act is clearly against the Sanatan culture of the na-tion. The BJP State president Mahendra Bhatt said that whether it be the Delhi Vidhan Sabha or the Uttarakhand urban local body elections, the Congress is concerned mainly about a particular community. This is the reason why the public will teach the Congress a lesson in both Delhi and Uttarakhand, he said.

Bhatt strongly condemned the step taken by the Congress, questioning its decision to approach the Supreme Court to quash the petitions seeking a review of the Act in question. He said that even in the past, the Congress leaders and lawyers had advocated strongly against the Ram Janmabhumi Mandir construc-tion for decades. "Continuing its policy of appeasement, it has once again targeted Muslim votes in the Delhi elections and approached the court to deprive the Hindus of the right to appeal regarding their religious and historical sites. The Congress has once again shown its anti-Sanatan face to the public. Its support of the law in question is an attempt to snatch from the Hindus the right to adopt legal measures against the historical injustices they have faced," the BJP State president said.

Bhatt further alleged that the Congress has always ignored the interests of the Hindus. He said that it was this very Congress which agreed to the partition of India on religious basis. This party later enacted the Waqf Act on the basis of religion to provide unlimited power to a particular community to usurp land. An amendment was made later to prevent the public from even legally challenging the authority of the Waqf board. "The Congress maintained its stance and enacted the Places of Worship Act which was intended to prevent the Hindus from ascertain the reality of the injustice and torture they had faced for many years. This was aimed at preventing the followers of Sanatan culture from regaining their religious, cultural and historical identity and religious places by using the legal means," Bhatt said.

The BJP State president said that the people in Ut-tarakhand and across the nation have once again seen the anti-Sanatan face of the Congress. The people understand the Congress wants the votes of a particular community in Delhi and Uttarakhand. This is the reason why the people of Uttarakhand will teach the Congress a lesson in the urban local body elections, he said.

Traders to approach DM & Doon's new mayor for resolving parking woes in Paltan Bazaar

PNS DEHRADUN

The Doon Valley Ma-hanagar Udyog Vyapar Mandal (DVMUVM) intends to approach the candidate elected as the mayor of Dehradun and the district magistrate following the urban body election to address the parking challenges encountered by both shopkeepers and customers in Paltan Bazaar. Many shopkeepers have expressed conkeepers have expressed con-cerns regarding the limited parking availability in the market, particularly in light of the approaching wedding season and the conclusion of Kharmas. They have stated that customers often park in front of their shops while shopping, which not only obstructs other shop-pers but also impedes the services they can provide. In response to these issues, the DVMUVM chief Pankaj Masson said that they plan to approach the DM after the Model Code of Conduct (MCC) concludes to advocate for the establishment of a permanent parking solu-tion in Paltan Bazaar.

Shopkeeper Girish Chaddha who runs a footwear store in Paltan Bazaar said that the parking issue has become a major concern in this area. Given that Paltan Bazaar is the central market of the city, it attracts a significant number of visitors daily. With the onset of the wedding season following the conclusion of Kharmas, the influx of customers has increased, further complicating parking for shoppers.

Maharaj grateful to CM for specialists' recruitment at Pauri hospital

DEHRADUN: The State Tourism and Pubic Works minister Satpal Maharaj expressed gratitude to the chief minister Pushkar Singh Dhami and the Health minister Dhan Singh Rawat for their initiative to recruit specialist doctors at Pauri district hospital. Notably, Maharaj had requested them for the recruitment, citing how the absence of an adequate number of specialist doctors had been affecting health service at the State-run medical facility. He said while addressing an election campaign meeting in Kot dwar that 18 specialist doctors and 28 nursing/paramedical staff had been appointed for the hospital. He further said that the State government's prompt action in this matter would facilitate proper treatment for the seriously ill and injured admitted at the district hospital.

Rawat orders completion of sports stadiums in Haldwani by Jan 20

HALDWANI: With the inauguration date of National Games- January 28- drawing near, the Kumaon commissioner Deepak Rawat conducted inspection of the mini stadium in Haldwani and the international stadium at Gaulapar. He directed the agency engaged in constructing the sports stadiums to complete the work by January 20 without fail. Later, while talking to the media persons, he said that aside from setting the deadline for completing the construction of the sports stadiums, he had asked those concerned to complete work on the swimming pool where water sports of the National Games are to be held. Besides, he ordered electricity-related works to be completed at the earliest. Notably, seven games are to be played in Haldwani for the National Games in which about 2000 guest players will participate.

Patanjali Research Institute hosts seminar on Ashwagandha

HARIDWAR: Ashwagandha awareness campaign, sponsored by National Medicinal Plants Board, Union Ministry of AYUSH and State Medicinal Plants Board, Dehradun, was organised by Patanjali Research Institute, Haridwar in collaboration with Patanjali Ayurveda College and Hospital, Haridwar. Addressing the seminar, yoga guru Swami Ramdev spoke on the medicinal importance of Ashwagandha with stress on the application of agricultural technology and value addition of Ashwagandha. He further said that following the footsteps of the ancient sages, PRI has done a lot of research on this immensely beneficial medicinal plant, adding that many Ashwagandha- based research papers of Patanjali have been prominently published in the eminent international research journals, including Biomolecules. The chief executive officer, National Medicinal Plants Board, New Delhi, Mahesh Kumar Dadhich dwelt on the objectives of the seminar and the cultivation of Ashwagandha. The chief executive officer, Uttarakhand State Medicinal Plants Board Nirpendra Chauhan discussed various government projects in Uttarakhand related to Ashwagandha. About 200 farmers and over 400 scholars registered for the seminar. Ashwagandha plants along with booklets were distributed free of cost among the participants.

PM Modi distributes more than 65 lakh property cards under SVAMITVA scheme

PIONEER NEWS SERVICE NEW DELH

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday distributed more than 65 lakh property cards under the SVAMITVA scheme, and said it will bolster economic activities and help in poverty alleviation. The prime minister virtually addressed the event and also interacted with some beneficiaries.

He also said rural land digitisation is "furthering rural empowerment by leveraging the power of and technology good governance'

The property cards are being distributed to beneficiaries across more than 50,000 villages in 10 states --Chhattisgarh, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Mizoram, Odisha, Punjab, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and two Union territories of Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh.

Modi said the scheme will help people get loans and benefits of other government schemes. "Around 2.24 crore beneficiaries in villages will now have SVAMITVA now property cards after 65 lakh cards are distributed today," the prime minister said. "Property rights are a major challenge across the world. Years ago, the United Nations had held a study, which revealed people did not have legal documents for property rights in several countries. The UN has said property rights are important for poverty alleviation," he said.

Modi said an eminent economist had opined that property in villages is a "dead capital" because people cannot do anything with it, and it can't help increase their income.

"India was also impacted by this challenge. People in villages have property worth lakhs of crores (of rupees), but they did not have papers for it. There were disputes, properties were snatched, and even banks did not provide loans over it," he said. prime

"After getting legal property rights, lakhs of people have taken loan. They have used this money to start their businesses. Many of these are farmers, for whom this property cards is a guarantee to financial security," he said. Modi said that once property cards are issued in all villages, the scheme will unlock economic activities worth over Rs 100 lakh crore. He emphasized the substantial capital that will be added to the country's economy. Noting that earlier, land disputes were common for farmers and obtaining land documents is challenging, often requiring multiple visits to offices and leading to corruption, the prime minister said that land records are being digitized to Highlighting SVAMITVA that and Bhu-Aadhaar are foundational systems for village development, he said that Bhu-Aadhaar provides a unique identity to land, with around 23 crore Bhu-Aadhaar numbers issued, making it easy to identify land plots. "Over the past seven-eight years, approximately 98 per cent of land records have been digitized, and most land maps are now digitally available, Modi added.

Later, in a social media post, the prime minister said rural land digitisation is "furthering rural empowerment by leveraging the power of technology and good governance"

Union Minister of Panchayati Raj Rajiv Ranjan Singh 'Lalan', Union Minister of State for Panchayati Raj S P Singh Baghel and Ministry of Panchayati Raj Secretary Vivek Bharadwaj were also present at the event. It was attended virtually by several chief ministers, Union ministers and state ministers Events are also being organised in over 230 districts for physical distribution of property cards. It is expected that around 13 Union ministers will physically join from designated locations from across the country to oversee regional distribution ceremonies of property cards. The SVAMITVA (Survey of Villages and Mapping with Improvised Technology in Village Areas) scheme was launched in 2020 to enhance the economic progress of rural India by providing 'Record of Rights' to households owning houses in inhabited areas in villages through the latest drone technology for surveying. The scheme also helps facilitate monetization of properties and enabling institutional credit through bank loans; reducing property-related disputes; facilitating better assessment of properties and property tax in rural areas and enabling comprehensive village-level planning.

Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw on Saturday inspected the work of the undersea tunnel of the Mumbai-Ahmedabad High Speed Rail Corridor, popularly called the bullet train project, and expressed satisfaction at the "good progress" on the mega multi-billion dollar project. The 21-kilometre tunnel, which includes a 7 kilometre stretch beneath the Thane Creek, will connect the Bandra Kurla Complex station to Shilphata. The undersea tunnel is the first of its kind in the country. The undersea tunnel has been designed and is being constructed with great care, Vaishnaw told reporters at the Gĥansoli in site and station infrastructure. The station at Bandra-Kurla Complex (BKC) is an engineering marvel, with a unique design featuring 10 underground floors and seven above-ground levels. The highspeed rail project is on schedule, with Japanese experts inspecting and approving the ongoing work," he said.

The dream of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to provide an affordable. efficient transportation mode for the middle class is steadily becoming a reality, the Union minister remarked.

The completion of the High Speed Rail route, the first in the country, will integrate the economies of the cities enroute, including Mumbai and Ahmedabad, and will greatly boosted urban development, Vaishnaw said. "The stations along the corridor will spur urban development and enhance daily commuters' productivity by significantly reducing travel time. Don't see the high-speed train as a transportation project, but as integration of the economy. It will elevate India's infrastructure and economic growth," Vaishnaw said. # Israel prepares for return of hostages

PTI TEL AVIV

Israel is preparing the hostages from srael is preparing for the Gaza with the expectation that many are likely to have severe. life-threatening complications after more than a year in captivity in the Gaza Strip. While it's impossible to know the exact conditions in which hostages have been held, the Health Ministry and the Hostages Family Forum, which represents families of the hostages, are preparing for several different scenarios based on information gathered from hostages previously released or rescued

Hamas militants abducted about 250 people during a cross-border attack on Oct 7, 2023, that also left 1,200 people dead. About 100 hostages are still being held, though Israel believes a third of them are no longer alive.

The war that followed the attack has killed more than 46.000 Palestinians, according to Gaza health officials, who do not distinguish between civilians and militants but say women and children make up more than half of those killed Hagai Levine, who heads the health team at the Hostages Families Forum, said he expects the hostages to return with cardiovascular and respiratory issues due to lack of ventilation in the tunnels. Among Levine expects are vitamin said deficiencies, starvation, dramatic weight loss, vision problems due to a lack of sunlight, broken bones, cognitive impairment and mental health trauma.

As a result, doctors are expecting the hostages will require longer and more complex medical and mental health interventions than did those who returned after the last ceasefire in November 2023, said Dr Einat Yehene, a psychologist at the Hostages Families Forum who oversees the captives' rehabilitation.

COMPLEX MEDICAL CHALLENGES

Doctors are keenly aware of the challenges they face in treating the surviving hostages. One of them is "refeeding syndrome," when exposure to certain foods or too much food can lead to profound health complications and even death in those with prolonged vitamin and nutritional deficiencies, said Dr Hagar Mizrahi, head of the Ministry of Health's medical directorate. The Red Cross team that will transfer the hostages from Gaza to Egypt and the small Israeli military medical team that will meet the hostages at the border as they cross into as stripping down the hospital Israel have strict guidelines for rooms and changing the lightwhat the hostages can eat in ing. > medical issues, health ministry officials said. Yehene said the public should not expect joyful reunions like those seen following the last ceasefire, when released hostages ran through hospital halls into the ecstatic embraces of their loved ones. "Given the physical and emotional conditions, we expect emotional withdrawal symptoms, such as maybe exhaustion, fatigue — and some will probably need assistance with their mobility," she said. Medical officials are also prepared for the possibility that returning hostages will need speech therapy, especially if they have been kept in isola-tion, Yehene noted. She said some might be so traumatized or in shock from the transfer to Israel that they will be unable to speak at all. To minimise the hostages' trauma and allow them to acclimate to their new reality, officials will try to limit the number of people who interact with them and have made accommodations to lessen their sensory stimulation, such Welfare has also planned temporary housing solutions if hostages feel unable to return directly from the hospital to their home.

THE HOSTAGES DON'T OWE YOU ANYTHING'

Experts are pleading with the news media and the public to give the hostages and their families privacy, despite intense interest in their plight. The first days back are really holy, when a person finally gets to meet with their family, and everyone else needs to take a step back," said Ofrit Shapira, a psychoanalyst who heads a group of health professionals treating freed hostages, their families, and survivors of the Oct 7 attack. Hospital wings housing the hostages are expected to be "sterilized," closed to all but direct family and doctors, to keep the public and news outlets away, medical officials have said

"It doesn't matter how much we care about them; they're their own people, they're not ours," Shapira added. She noted that asking the hostages direct questions about their experiences can force them to relive their trauma. She said it's best to allow them to release information at their own pace.

"Our curiosity is really not important compared with what the hostages need," she said. "It doesn't matter how much you volunteered or were active in this fight; they don't owe you anything.

SUPPORT FOR FAMILIES

Some of the previously freed hostages and their families have volunteered to help counsel those now going through the same process, Levine said. He noted the strength of the bonds created between the relatives of the hostages, and between the released hostages, who have become like "psy-chological families" helping each other adapt and heal, he said. Many released hostages are neglecting their own rehabilitation because they are so wrapped up in the fight to bring the others home, Levine said.

A big priority is also to provide support for the families of hostages who did not survive. Israel has confirmed the deaths of at least a third of the approximately 90 remaining captives. But Hamas has not confirmed the status of the 33 who are expected to be freed in the first might no longer be alive. This moment of the releases is an emotional and psychological trigger for something they were supposed to experience, and they never will experience, because this deal took too long," Yehene said.

Iran's long war with Iraq. After Iran's then Supreme Leader Ruhollah Khomeini accepted a UN-brokered ceasefire, members of the exiled Iranian opposition group Mujahedeen-e-Khalq, or MEK, heavily armed by Saddam Hussein, stormed across the Iranian border in a surprise attack. Iran ultimately blunted their assault, but the attack set the stage for the sham retrials of political prisoners, militants and others that would become known as "death commissions". International rights groups estimate that as many as 5,000 people were executed, while the MEK puts the number at 30,000.

Iran has never fully acknowledged the executions, apparently carried out on Khomeini's orders, though some argue that other top officials were effectively in charge in the months before his 1989 death.

The MEK did not immediately respond to a request for court from a detention centre in Uiwang, near Seoul, in a blue Justice Ministry van escorted by police and the presidential security service. The motorcade entered the court's basement parking space as thousands of Yoon's support-to get through a blockade voted to lift the measure. The opposition-dominated assembly voted to impeach him on December 14.

If Yoon is formally arrested, it could mark the beginning of an extended period in custody for him, lasting months or more. If prosecutors indict Yoon on rebellion and abuse of power charges, which are the allegations now being examined by investigators, they could keep him in custody for up to six months before trial. Under South Korean law, orchestrating a rebellion is punishable by life imprisonment or the death penalty. Yoon's lawyers have argued that there is no need to detain him during the investigation, saying he doesn't pose a threat to flee or destroy evidence. Investigators respond that Yoon ignored several requests to appear for questioning, and that the presidential security service blocked an attempt to detain him on January 3. His defiance has raised concerns

Tens of thousands to converge on Washington for march days before Trump takes office

PTI WASHINGTON

Eight years since its historic first march, the Women's Women's March. March is returning Saturday to the nation's capital just before President-elect Donald Trump's inauguration.

Rebranded and reorganized, the rally has a new name — the People's March — as a means to broaden support, especially during a reflective moment for progressive organizing after Trump's decisive win in November. The Republican takes the oath of office Monday. Women outraged over Trump's 2016 presidential win flocked to Washington in 2017 and organized large rallies in cities throughout the country, building

The Washington rally alone attracted over 500,000 marchers, and millions more participated in local marches around the country, marking one of the largest single-day demonstrations in US history. This year, the march is expected to be about one-tenth the size of the first one and comes amid a restrained moment of reflection as many progressive voters navigate feelings of exhaustion, disappointment and despair after Vice President Kamala Harris' loss. The comparative quiet contrasts sharply with the white-knuckled fury of the inaugural rally as massive crowds shouted told The Associated Press.

demands over megaphones and marched in pink pussyhats in response to Trump's first election win. "The reality is that it's just hard to capture lightning in a bottle," said Tamika Middleton, managing director at the Women's March. "It was a really particular moment. In 2017, we had not seen a Trump presidency and the kind of vitriol that that represented."

The movement fractured after that hugely successful day of protests over accusations that it was not diverse enough. This year's rebrand as a People's March is the result of an overhaul intended to broaden the group's appeal. Saturday's demonstration will promote themes related to feminism, racial justice, anti-militarization and other issues and will end with discussions hosted by various social justice organizations. The People's March is unusual in the "vast array of issues brought together under one umbrella," said Jo Reger, a sociology professor who researches social movements at Oakland University in Rochester, Michigan. Women's suffrage marches, for example, were focused on a specific goal of voting rights. For a broad-based social justice movement such as the march, conflicting visions are impossible to avoid and there is "immense pressure" for organizers to meet everyone's needs, Reger said. But she also said some discord isn't necessarily a bad thing.

TikTok users in limbo as ban looms

PTI NEW YORK

The US is inching closer L and closer to a potential TikTok ban — with the nation's highest court upholding a law that's set to halt new downloads of the app starting Sunday. But many questions around what exactly this ban will look like, and whether it will actually be enforced, remain. That puts millions of users and content creators in limbo particularly influencers and Amendment concerns about small business owners who limiting free speech on and by have come to rely on the megathe app. A sale does not appear immipopular social media platform as a source of income. Among those individuals is Terrell Wade, a comedian, actor and content creator with 1.5 million followers on TikTok under the handle @TheWadeEmpire. Wade, who has turned his TikTok presence PD(1283)C into a full-time job, said he ship to address national security concerns, but signalled expects "two days of chaos" as the Sunday deadline nears. that it won't enforce the law on "At this point, I really don't know what to believe," Wade Sunday, the Democrat's final full day in office. On Friday, White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre said that actions to enforce the law will fall to the new administration due to "the sheer fact of timing.

Meanwhile, Republican President-elect Donald Trump, who once also tried to ban TikTok, has now vowed to preserve access to the platform. But what his options will be following Monday's inauguration remains unclear.

Among other points of confusion is what a ban on TikTok will look like. Experts have said the app will not disappear from existing users' devices once the law takes effect. But new users won't be able to download it and updates will not be available. That will eventually render the app unworkable, the Justice Department said in court filings. All of this is "a reminder to the creator community that social media platforms can come and go," notes Kelsey Chickering, a principal analyst at Forrester, stressing the disruptions TikTok creators and influencers will feel if the ban takes effect. If access to is lost, she adds, many will have to pivot and re-build their presence on other platforms.

While bracing for a potential Sunday ban, Wade is among creators who hope that something happens to avert the shutdown, although he thinks he has enough followers on other platforms to stay afloat. "I'm still remaining optimistic," he said. Still, many continue to express fears over the potential of losing TikTok.

Rohit hints players have reservations about BCCI's 10-point diktat

PTI MUMBAI

 $R^{\mathrm{ohit}}_{\mathrm{have}}$  seems to about certain clauses in the 10-point disciplinary guidelines prepared by the BCCI at the disciplinary behest of head coach Gautam Gambhir and India skipper is set to discuss the issue with the Board secretary Devajit Saikia

The BCCI has not officially announced the guidelines but media has already reported on the 10-point diktat.

One of the major contentions in policy document is going back to the old days where families are allowed only for 14 days on long tours. Any deviation would need coach Gambhir's approval.

It is understood that this point has not gone down well in the team's rank and file. As Rohit sat beside chairman of selectors Ajit Agarkar before the start of the press conference, he was heard telling his former Mumbai teammate: "Ab mere ko baithna padega secretary ke saath. Family, wamily ka discuss karne ke liye, sab mere ko bol rahe hai yaar (I have to sit down with the secretary to discuss about family (travel guidelines). Everyone (players) is asking me.

Rohit's comment wasn't meant for the media but it was caught on the microphone and it was not difficult to read between the lines.

When Rohit asked about the guidelines, he retorted,"Who told you about these rules? Has it come from the official handle of the BCCI? Let it come officially. However when Agarkar travel policy document? Agarkar, who was also a part of that review committee meeting that discussed the Australia debacle, said, "We'll probably talk about it endlessly if we keep going on." "I suppose every team has some rules in place. We've spoken about various things you see over the last few months where you can improve as a team, where you can get a bit closer as a team. It's not a school. It's not a punishment," he said, trying to rationalise.

"It's just (that) you have some rules in place and when you're playing for the national team you just follow those rules. Again, these are mature individuals. They are superstars in their own rights in international sport."

Many former players have termed these rules as something that was always in place and Agarkar called them protocols that one has to follow while representing the national team.

"But at the end of the day you're eventually representing your country. There are certain things that you just inherently follow as every team does. I think a lot of them (rules) have been in place.

"Maybe we've spoken about it now and it's been put out, but a lot of them have been in place in any case. You keep on refining it as you go along eventually what suits the team, you want to try and do. There have been conjectures working about Rohit's relationship with the head coach and the skipper said that once he enters the playing arena, he is his own man. Number of controversial decisions in boxing could be reduced using AI-based technology

PTI LONDON

Bis a theatre of skill, power and drama that has captivated audiences for centuries. Yet, behind the allure of championship nights and historic rivalries lies a persistent shadow controversial decisions that spark cries of "robbery".

Boxing has had its fair share of controversial decisions which continue to spark debate among fans and experts alike. While While technology in sports like football and cricket has supplemented objective rules, boxing's reliance on subjective judgement leaves it uniquely vulnerable to bias and error. Isn't it time the sport caught up?

The answer may lie in artificial intelligence (AI). Imagine a world where contentious decisions and accusations of bias become a thing of the past. Could the technology offer boxing the fairness and transparency it desperately needs?

Boxing's history is long and storied, tracing back to bareknuckle fights and evolving into the regulated, global phenomenon it is today. But some things haven't changed. Chief among them is the subjective nature of judging. Unlike football's offsides or cricket's LBW (leg before wicket) calls, boxing lacks hard and fast rules for Decisions depend on referees interpreting and judges abstract criteria like effective aggression, defence and clean punching. While these punching. standards sound straightforward, their application often wildly, leading varies to unpredictable results. Take the infamous 2012 Olympics, which featured many scoring controversies that led to demands for reform. More recently, during the Oleksandr Usyk v Daniel Dubois bout, the referee ruled that Dubois had delivered a low blow to Usyk. This left AI fans divided, with some feeling it should have been a legal punch. It's one example of where a key decision has sparked widespread debate in the sport. But there are many others.

Other sports have adopted innovative technology in an attempt to reduce subjectivity: cricket uses ball tracking for precise decision making, football has VAR (video assistant referee) for disputed goals, and MMA (mixed martial arts) employs replays to confirm pivotal moments. But boxing remains stubbornly dependent on human eyes. Why? Because its unique pace and nuance present challenges that technology hasn't vet mastered.

For fans, what they might regard as an unfair decision can be a bitter pill. For fighters, it's devastating years of training undone by a controversial call. And for the sport as a whole, the eement over de ions can tarnish its credibility. Boxing is an industry worth billions. Sponsors, broadcasters and pay-perview audiences demand a product they can trust. Controversies don't just upset fans, they jeopardise the sport's business model. To survive and thrive, boxing needs to evolve, and technology offers a way forward. AI's potential in boxing What makes AI so promising is its ability to process complexities. Rather than replacing human judgement, can supplement it, bringing consistency to a sport fraught ensuring fairness.

Here's how technology could reshape boxing. Sensors and could track punch ΑI accuracy, power and placement. This data would give judges a factual layer to complement their scoring. AI could also transform instant replays. Key moments, like knockdowns or potential fouls, could be reviewed quickly without disrupting the fight's rhythm.

Artificial intelligence could also assist scoring. Algorithms trained on historical data could suggest scores based on patterns and metrics, acting as a guide for judges. Finally, blockchain technology, where a record of decisions is maintained across linked computers, could log and secure judges' scores, creating a transparent record for post-fight analysis. Progress and tradition Boxing has always celebrated its traditions, and that's part of its charm. But clinging too tightly to the past risks alienating today's fans. Critics worry that too much technology might strip the sport of its human touch. But the goal isn't to replace much needed tradition, it's to protect it by

Australian Open: Iga Swiatek is in total control during a 6-1, 6-0 rout of Emma Raducanu

PTI MELBOURNE

Everything came so easily for Iga Swiatek during a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Emma Raducanu on Saturday in the only Australian Open women's third-round match between two past Grand Slam champions — if you thought that meant it would be close, you would have been rather wrong — that this was how she described it: "I felt like the ball," Swiatek said, "is listening to me." Loud and clear. Asked to explain that sensation, Swiatek put her two index fingers a few inches apart and said, "It's just being able to aim for this kind of space." Then she spread her palms more than a foot apart to show that's the margin for error on other days.

The difference, she said, comes down to "being more precise and actually knowing where the ball is going to go, seeing the effects that you want it to." When the five-time major Later Saturday, No. 4 Taylor Fritz, the runner-up at last year's U.S. Open, became the highest-seeded man to leave the bracket, defeated by 38-year-old Gael Monfils 3-6, 7-5, 7-6 (1), 6-4. Monfils joined Roger Federer as the only men 38 or older to get to the fourth round in Melbourne since the field expanded to 128 players in 1988.

Neflix's Black Warrant takes viewers into the life in Tihar Jail investigating power, corruption and survival in 1980s, writes ABHI SINGHAL

The story revolves around Sunil Kumar Gupta, portraved by Zahan Kapoor, a novice jailer who begins his tenure at Tihar Jail. As he becomes acquainted with the prison's operations under the guidance of Rajesh Tomar (played by Rahul Bhat), Sunil Kumar Gupta confronts the pervasive corruption and complex power dynamics among inmates and staff of Tihar Jail. The series excavates into Gupta's moral dilemmas and his interactions with notorious criminals, including serial killer Charles Sobhraj. A Stellar Ensemble

The cast of Black Warrant delivers outstanding performances, bringing depth to the series' deep story. Zahan Kapoor shines as Sunil Gupta, portraying a young, idealistic jailer coming to truth with the harsh realities of Tihar Jail. His portrayal of inner conflict and moral dilemmas adds a relatable human touch to the story. Rahul Bhat excels as DSP Rajesh Tomar, a hardened mentor who embodies the complexity of law enforcement in a morally ambiguous environment.

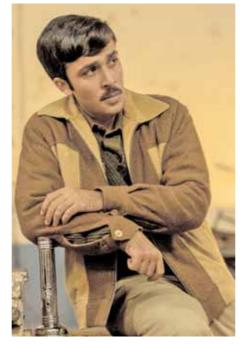

Sidhant Gupta's performance as the cunning and calm Charles Sobhraj is a standout, effortlessly having a scary vibe of his own. Rajshri Deshpande adds gravitas as Pratibha Sen, a journalist investigating the murky waters of prison politics. Supporting actors like Tota Roy Choudhury and Joy Sengupta skillfully portray senior prison officials, highlighting the institutional dynamics and their often questionable choices. Each actor contributes to the authentic portrayal of a prison system marked by power struggles, corruption, and humanity's darker shades. The ensemble's seamless chemistry elevates the series, making it a gripping watch.

Direction and Production

The series is a collaborative creation by Vikramaditya Motwane, Satyanshu Singh, and Daniel Sharma. Motwane, co-directs alongside Singh, Sharma, Rohin Raveendran Nair, and Ambiecka Pandit.

Episode Structure

"Black Warrant" comprises seven episodes, each ranging from 38 to 50 minutes. Each episode takes you through deeper into the challenges faced by Gupta as he sails the double crossing environment of Tihar Jail. Critical Reception

The series goes good on the part of authentic depiction of prison life and compelling storytelling of the Tihar Jail. The storyline is gripping and showcases the major part of how things roll in Tihar Jail. The dark side of corruption, the setting of inmates with the police the violence inside the jail and the under police, the violence inside the jail and the under trails is perfectly showcased in the film.

With each episode centred on a different case, the show is meticulously scripted. Even if the majority of the plot seems authentic, it falls apart when Sunil is revealed as the system's sole saviour. It could have done better with the ending like the other episodes.

Closure

"Black Warrant" is notable for its honest and realistic depiction of the intricacies found in one of India's most infamous prisons. With excellent acting, especially from Zahan Kapoor and Rahul Bhat, the series explores themes of survival and divison of power. Black Warrant is a notable addition to Netflix's library for fans who enjoy crime dramas based on actual events.

The turning point in his career came when Sonu Sood was offered roles that showcased his versatility. Whether as the villain or a complex character with shades of Gray, Sonu's consistent hard work and dedication to his craft saw him rise through the ranks of Bollywood's A-list stars. His powerful performances in films like Jodha Akbar (2008), Simmba(2018), and Raju Chacha (2000) earned him several awards and nominations. What sets Sonu apart is his ability to evolve with the changing dynamics of the film industry. He has played a range of characters, from a villain to a hero, from actionpacked roles to romantic parts. His commitment to delivering quality performances, regardless of the scale of the film, has made him a dependable actor in Bollywood. While Sonu Sood's acting career has been remarkable, his philanthropic work during the COVID-19 pandemic made him a true hero in the eyes of millions. When the pandemic caused widespread suffering across the globe, Sonu didn't just stay confined to his home; he became the guiding light for thousands of people in need. Sonu's philanthropic efforts began when he started helping migrant workers stuck in different parts of India due to the lockdown. With his own funds and resources, Sonu arranged transportation for thousands of migrant workers to return to their homes, despite facing logistical hurdles and government restrictions. His initiative gained massive media attention, with people praising him for his quick and effective response to the crisis. In addition to helping migrant workers, Sonu Sood extended his support to the medical sector by arranging hospital beds, oxygen supplies, and treatment for those suffering from COVID-19. He provided financial aid to families who had lost their loved ones during the pandemic and launched multiple campaigns to help students, farmers, and the underprivileged access education, healthcare, and employment opportunities. Through his organisation, the Sood Charity Foundation, Sonu has continued his philanthropic efforts, focusing on education, healthcare, and helping the underprivileged. He believes in the power of education and aims to provide quality education to children who do not have access to it. His efforts have not gone unnoticed, and he has received numerous accolades, including the prestigious International Humanitarian Awardin recognition of his selfless work. Sonu Sood's success in Bollywood is a result of his unwavering dedication and hard work. He didn't come from a film family and had no Godfather when he reached Mumbai from his hometown Moga with just Rs 5000 in his pocket. He worked his way up to build his career from the ground up. His perseverance is a reflection of his commitment to his craft and his belief that success comes with consistent effort. What sets Sonu apart from many others in the industry is his work ethic and focus. He has worked in several regional film industries, including Tamil, Telugu, Kannada, and Hindi cinema, which allowed him to understand the nuances of different audiences and cultures. This versatility has been key to his success, as he is equally comfortable playing a hero or villain in different languages and genres. In an industry where many actors rely on luck or industry connections to secure their place, Sonu has demonstrated that talent, dedication, and hard work are the true pillars of success. His journey is an inspiration to aspiring actors and those who believe in the power of perseverance. Sonu Sood has not only made a place for himself in Bollywood but has also become a hero for countless people across the country. His legacy, both as an actor and philanthropist, will continue to inspire generations to come.

He was in Delhi at the premier of his latest offering 'Fateh' an action-packed film dealing with cybercrime. Sonu Sood talked to Gyaneshwar Dayal, about his acting, social responsibilities and future plans.

Could you tell us what scripts draw your attention?

I like to do the films which are close to common man, about his life and problems. Recently I did Fateh which deals with the cybercrimes which has become a menace in the country and people should know about it. So I thought why not make a film which would indeed not only entertain but also inform people about the dangers lurking in the digital domain. So I prefer films which are entertaing but also create awareness and talk about people's issues

You are known for action. Do you like action roles?

Yes of course. In my films people get to see a lot of action sequences which are world class and are at par with Hollywood films. We can say that we make action sequences which are world class and perfectly choreographed. Fateh is case in point.

How do you prepare for a role in a film?

Well acting comes naturally to me. I have always loved acting and so when I hear a character in the film I get the idea how to go about it. I can switch on and off between the roles and that is really important because Bollywood works like that. Yes,understanding of the role must be there so that you can do justice to it.

You do a lot of philanthropic work. So what you prefer action for the people in their dire times or action on the screen? See, life is more than just lights camera action. When there are no lights or camera action continues in the real life. It is a great feeling when you can help someone in need when there is no light no camera. It is important to be sympathetic and have empathy, because cinema is one aspect of life not the other way round.

You have portrayed a range of roles, both positive and negative. Which type do you prefer, and why?

That's correct I accept all types of roles I think I can do justice to. But now on I want to do positive roles. I love playing positive roles and that is the kind roles I would be doing now on.

With a view of the bustling metro line on the golf course road, Japonico's interiors are a visual treat. The layout is thoughtfully divided: one side features a live wood Robata grill and familystyle seating, while the other, overlooking the bar, offers a more high-energy vibe. Striking design elements, live projections on flowing water and giant pots, create a serene yet vibrant ambience. Subtle lighting is balanced by strategically placed spotlights, ensuring that every dish's presentation shines as brightly as its flavours cultural diversity and natural beauty, is a region where traditions and modernity coexist in harmony. Among its enchanting states Assam stands out with its lush tea gardens, lively festivals, and the mighty Brahmaputra River. Assam is all alive with the Brahmaputra Carnival, a grand celebration that promises to showcase the region's rich heritage, arts, and cuisine. Set against the stunning backdrop of the majestic river, the carnival features cultural performances, adventure sports, food festivals, and more. It's a unique opportunity to experience the soul of Assam like never before. A fun carnival that looks like a colourful masterpiece made from Assamese soul, river breezes, and sunshine. On the banks of the majestic Brahmaputra River, Assam culture is celebrated at the Brahmaputra Carnival. The river itself is serving as the stage for this festival, which is organised by the Assam Government and is a symphony of culture, adventure, and unadulterated delight. To make your experience even more fun and adventurous is The Lachit Ghat is the site of the Brahmaputra Carnival, and Sandbar Island serves as the Tent City during the event. It takes 15 to 20 minutes by speed boat from the Lachit Ghat to Sandbar Island, and the journey is visually stunning. If you're considering a trip to the northeast, the sunny and windy weather is ideal for a getaway.

A RETREAT ON THE RIVER:

the carnival pulsates with energy, yet maintains a serene undercurrent. The Brahmaputra, ever unpredictable, adds a touch of wildness to the festivities, reminding us of the raw power of nature. It's a retreat for the soul, where the peace of the river's embrace melds perfectly with the excitement of adventure.

GLAMPING IN STYLE: The

festival provides a luxurious glamping Currently being held on the Lachit Ghat, experience with three categories of tents namely the Royal Tents, Premium Tents, and Deluxe Tents. All of the three options offer you a comfortable and stylish retreat, complete with modern amenities and breathtaking river views that would blow away your mind. Also, one would enjoy the foggy views as soon as you get up and look outside of your tents. The foggy layers engulfing the Brahmaputra River will want you to have a cup of tea or coffee with those views and chills. You would also experience the open-air cinema magic at Brahmaputra Carnival Tent City. Movies, fresh air, and unforgettable moments await you. The main part of the stay is the hospitality provided at your new home. The hospitality by Gias and his team of boys at the Tent City would truly make you comfortable and at home providing everything handy and in need.

ADVENTURES ON THE BRAHMAPUTRA: For the adrenaline junkies, the Brahmaputra is an irresistible playground. At the Sandbar Island you would experience the speedboat rides cut through the water like a knife, while kayaking and jet skiing offer a more intimate encounter with the river's currents with your own rapid and water fun. For those seeking a true test of courage, bungee jumping provides an exhilarating leap of faith. And let's not forget the thrill of ATV rides and the exhilarating descent on the river rapids during a white-water rafting expedition.

This is not the end. You could also experience the hot air balloon rides up into the sky for beautiful views, beach volleyball, beach cricket, archery, river rafting and water roller. These adventures offer a unique perspective on the Brahmaputra, allowing you to experience its power and beauty firsthand.

At the Lachit Ghat, you would experience Archery, River Rafting, Water Roller, Speed boat, Kayaking, ATV, Bungee Ejection, Mechanical Bull Ride, Bungee Trampoline, Air Gun Shooting, Zip Line, Rope Course and Zorbing. All this will keep you hooked to the carnival and not wanting to leave it. Take note that the water activities do not take place after the dark due to safety reasons.

A CULTURAL VIBE: Beyond the thrills, the Brahmaputra Carnival is a celebration of Assamese culture. You would see vibrant performances of traditional dances like Bihu, Satriya Nritya, Bagurumba, Bhortal, and Ojapali showcasing the region's rich heritage. Apart from the dance culture you could get stalls at the Lachit Ghat to buy the Assam specialities like the printed Gamucha, Mekhela Chador for women and the Dhoti-gamosa for men.

The Brahmaputra Carnival also takes you through the musical ears of Assam as bands perform in the concerts in the evening at the Lachit Ghat. On the 31st January the Carnival will be graced by the melodic singing of the famous singer Papon, on 19th February it will be Rupam Buyan and 19 January will be rocked by Kanawz & Company.

THE TRADITIONAL TASTE: At

the Brahmaputra Carnival you can indulge in local delicacies that savour the flavours of authentic Assamese cuisine. The carnival has food stalls with authentic Assamese touch. You would see chicken momos, chicken vodka momos, prawns, silkworms and so much more that would satisfy your mouth watery taste buds.

A JOURNEY TO REMEMBER:

The Brahmaputra Carnival is more than just a festival; it's an invitation to experience the soul of Assam. It's a chance to connect with nature, have some adventure, and discover the magic of a land where the river dictates the rhythm of life. So, pack your bags guys, and prepare to be swept away by the essence of the Brahmaputra Carnival.

ratitude is often described as the quality of being thankful and the readiness to show appreciation for and return kindness. It is a fundamental human emotion, yet its potential to transform lives is frequently underestimated. Gratitude journaling, a simple practice of recording things you are thankful for, has emerged as a powerful tool for fostering emotional well-being, enhancing mental health, and even improving physical health. By consciously focusing on the positive aspects of life, gratitude journaling reshapes perspectives, rewires the brain, and cultivates happiness.

The concept of gratitude has long been studied in psychology, particularly within the field of positive psychology. Researchers Dr. Robert Emmons and Dr. Michael McCullough are pioneers in studying gratitude. Emmons defines gratitude as a two-step process: recognising that one has obtained a positive outcome and acknowledging that there is an external source for this positive outcome. This perspective connects gratitude not only to personal satisfaction but also to relational and societal harmony. Neuroscience supports the transformative effects of gratitude. Studies using functional MRI scans show that practicing gratitude activates the brain's reward system, specifically the medial prefrontal cortex. This area is associated with decision-making and the regulation of emotions. Furthermore, gratitude enhances the production of neurotransmitters like dopamine and serotonin, often referred to as the "feel-good" chemicals. These changes not only foster happiness but also mitigate symptoms of anxiety and depression.

Gratitude journaling involves regularly writing down things you are grateful for. This practice may appear simplistic, but its effects are profound. Research indicates that gratitude journaling can reduce symptoms of depression and anxiety. A 2015 study published in the journal Psychotherapy Research found that individuals who engaged in gratitude writing reported significantly better mental health outcomes compared to those who focused on negative emotions or did not engage in any writing practice. Gratitude helps reframe thoughts, reducing rumination and encouraging a focus on the positive.

Putting gratitude on paper- promotes emotional resilience by encouraging individuals to concentrate on their blessings rather than their shortcomings. This positive focus redirects attention away from stress and difficulties, fostering a mental buffer that strengthens the ability to navigate adversity. Research by Dr. Emmons highlights that gratitude significantly boosts optimism, a critical factor in building resilience.

Reflecting on the kindness and support received from others through gratitude journaling can significantly improve interpersonal relationships. By deepening appreciation for those around us, it strengthens social bonds. According to a study published in the journal Emotion, gratitude not only enhances feelings of connection but also inspires prosocial behaviour.

The positive effects of gratitude extend beyond mental health. Gratitude journaling has been associated with better sleep, reduced blood pressure, and improved immune function. A study in the journal Applied Psychology: Health and Well-Being found that participants who practiced gratitude journaling for two weeks experienced better sleep quality and longer duration, likely due to reduced stress levels. Incorporating gratitude journaling into daily life is simple and requires minimal resources. Dedicate a specific time each day for journaling. Many people find that writing before bedtime helps them reflect on the day and end it on a positive note. Begin by listing three things you are grateful for each day. These can be as simple as a good meal, a kind word, or a moment of laughter. Rather than writing "I am grateful for my family," elaborate on a specific moment, such as "I am grateful for the conversation I had with my sister today, which made me feel understood." Dive deep into one or two experiences rather than creating a long list. This approach helps reinforce the emotional impact of the practice. Incorporate gratitude for challenges and lessons learned. This reframes obstacles as opportunities for growth. If you struggle to get started, use prompts such as, "What made me smile today?" or "What is something I take for granted but am truly thankful for?'

The power of this practice is evident in countless personal stories. For instance, individuals recovering from trauma often find solace in gratitude practices. One such example comes from veterans participating in a gratitude program developed by the University of California, Berkeley. Many reported reduced symptoms of PTSD and improved overall wellbeing after weeks of gratitude journaling. Similarly, organisations like schools and workplaces have embraced gratitude initiatives to foster a positive culture. Employees and students who engage in gratitude practices report higher satisfaction, productivity, and collaboration. In today's fast-paced, often overwhelming world, journaling serves as a grounding practice. Social media, while connecting people, can amplify feelings of inadequacy through constant comparison. Gratitude journaling counters this effect by focusing on intrinsic values and personal blessings rather than external validation. Moreover, technological advancements have made this journaling more accessible. Apps like "Gratitude," "Five Minute Journal," and "Day One" offer digital platforms for consistent journaling, making the practice convenient and engaging. Gratitude journaling is more than a habit;

Gratitude journaling is more than a habit; it is a transformative practice that rewires the brain, reshapes perspectives, and fosters holistic well-being. By consistently focusing on the positive aspects of life, individuals can enhance their mental and physical health, build resilience, and nurture meaningful relationships. Scientific research supports the profound impact of gratitude, making it a cornerstone of emotional intelligence and personal growth. In a world that often emphasises what is missing, gratitude journaling reminds us to cherish what we already have, transforming lives one thought at a time.
