Studies show that adding gestures and nonverbal cues substantially improves speed of understanding, resulting in an enhanced recipient perception of overall experience

Journal of Nonverbal Behaviour

HOW IT WORKS

Research indicates that nonverbal cues are 430% more effective than verbal cues.

British Journal of Clinical Psychology

EXAMPLES

CHANGING FUSES AND DIODES

Complete walk-through carefully explaining how to dismantle and refit ensuring good electrical contact and safety procedures

TROUBLESHOOTING THE AVR

Live video indicating all the points and areas to assess augmented with real-time hand gesture overlays for better and more efficient communication.

INSPECTING THE EXCITER

No problem, we'll walk with you through every stage, every safeguard and every check that needs to be done.

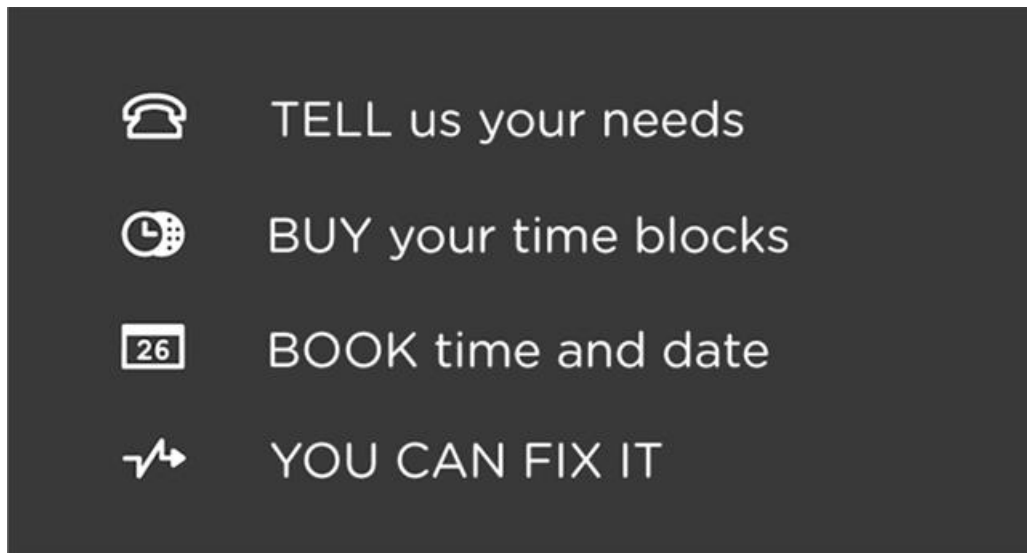

RUNNING TESTS

We can help you run the necessary tests ensuring the safety of your personnel, the equipment and the generator windings. Hand gestures and tool manipulation overlays help to ensure things are done correctly, avoiding costly mistakes.
