washrooms

transforming the washroom

about us

Interfix provides a complete, integrated washroom design and fit out capability.

From initial analysis and proposals through to installation and commissioning of the finished washroom environment we provide a seamless service, backed up by our experience and expertise.

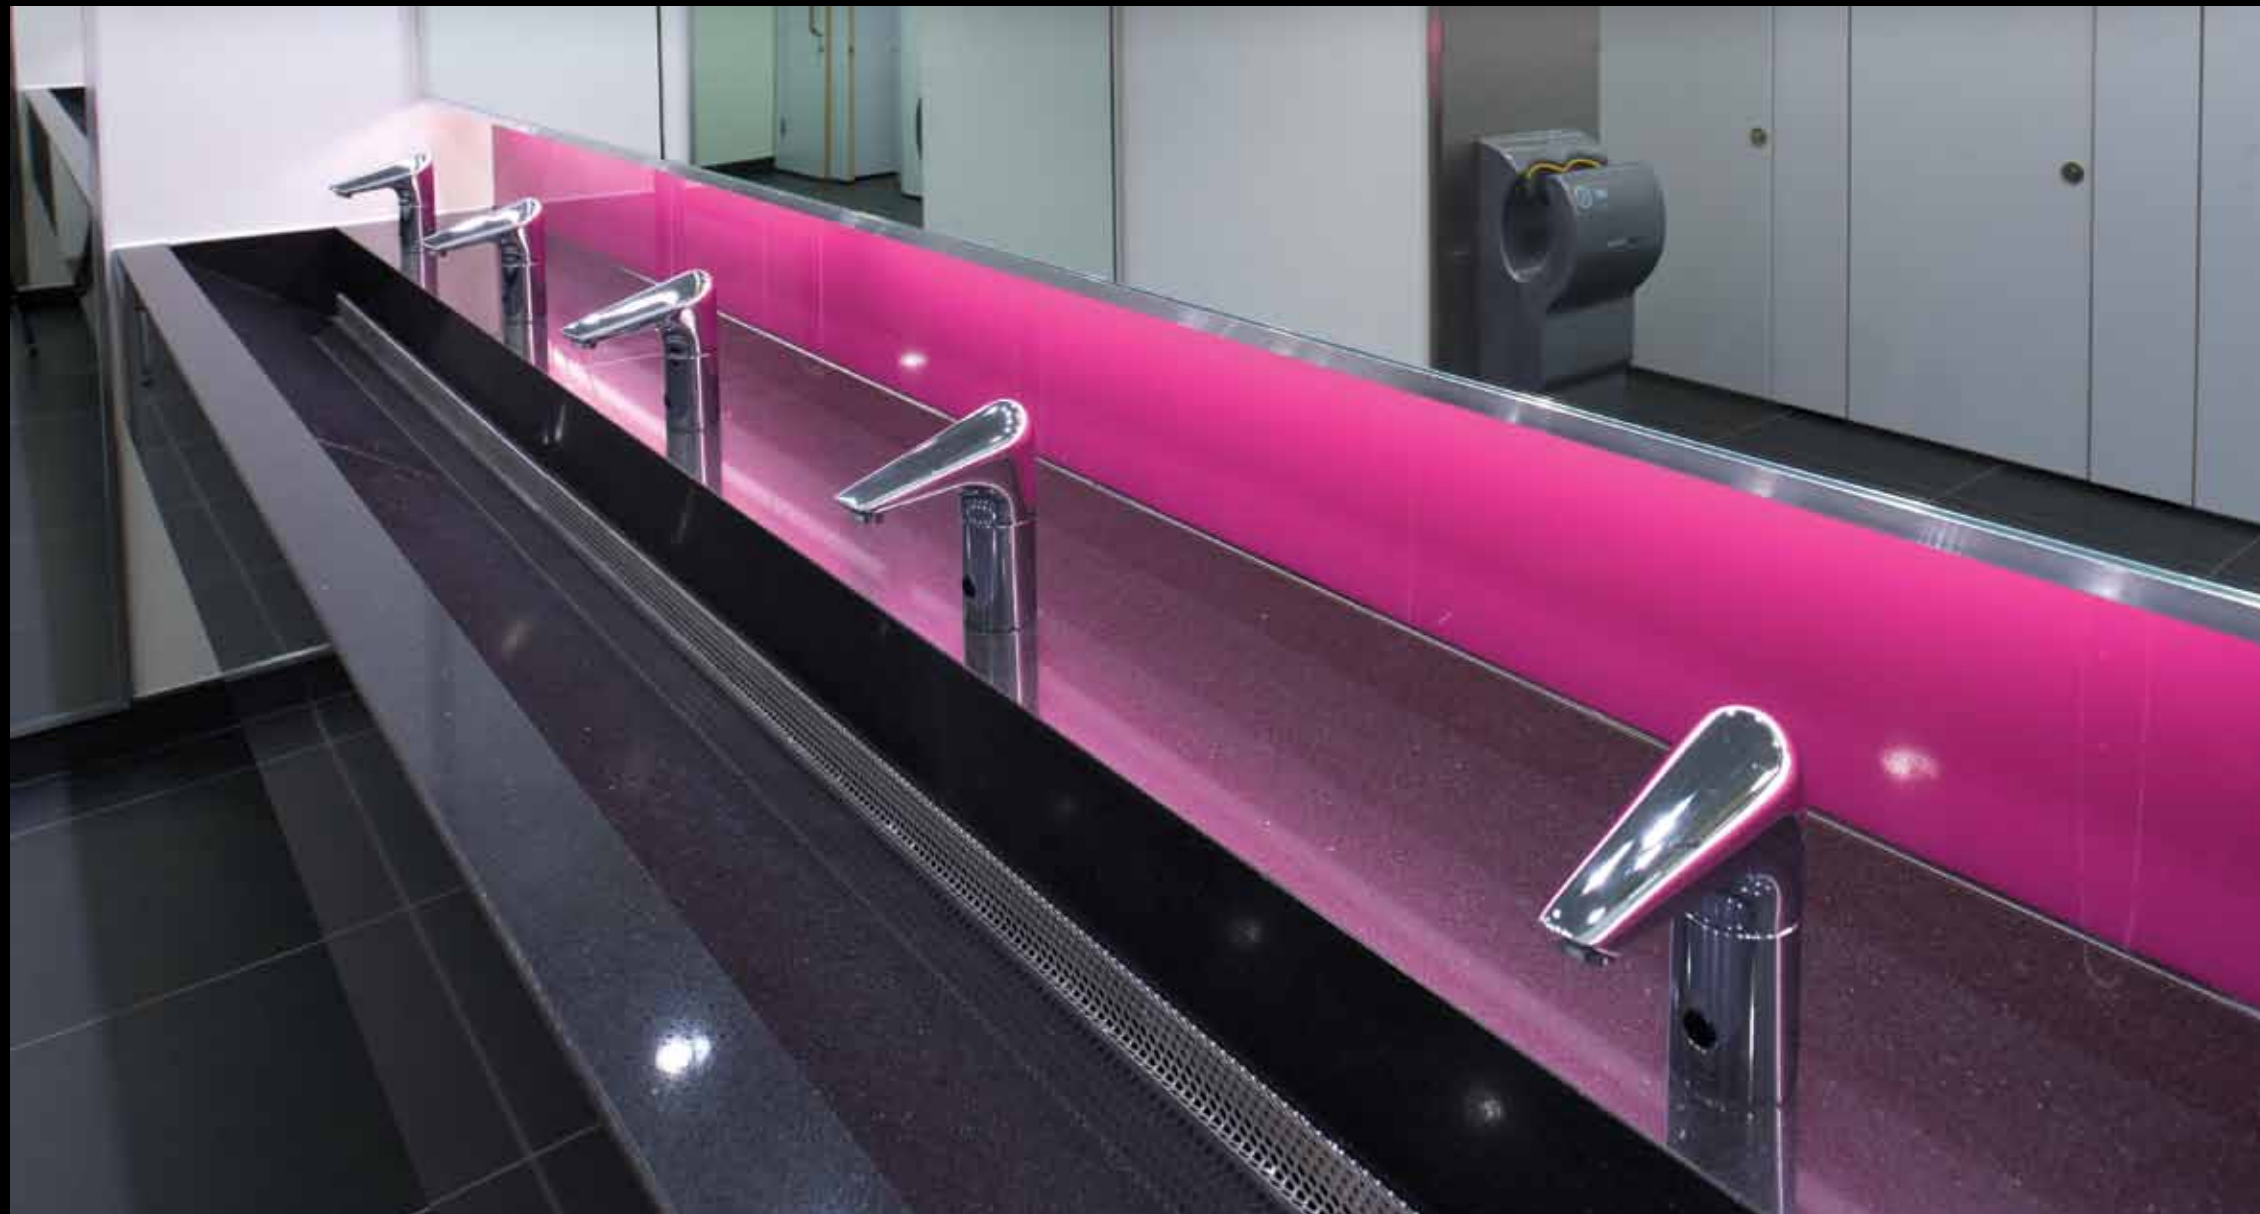

our vision

To be a renowned, trusted organisation providing an affiliated partner for the design and management of washroom fit out.

psychological effect

Good impressions last. Good facilities give a positive message about your principles.

Washrooms are a crucial element in people's views of your organisation and how you stand in relation to your visitors, clients and employees.

realising different washroom needs

Our broad spectrum of experience helps us maintain a head start in the development of tailored solutions to suit each individual need.

We believe that a perfect solution is not 'off the shelf', but involves intricate bespoke detailing combined with the resource of many years of experience.

redefining your washroom

Washrooms no longer need to bear the stigma of being unhygienic unclean facilities, but can be designed to produce areas which people are comfortable about using.

The preconceived image of toilets can become a thing of the past, replaced by state of the art systems.

progressive hygiene development

We continually strive to fight the battle against the germination and spread of bacteria and disease by using the most advanced technology.

Our product analysis staff continually work to improve bacteria management and hygiene in the washroom environment.

our commitment

It is our commitment to provide truly stunning washrooms that are practical, functional and aesthetically pleasing whilst being ergonomic and pleasant to use.

our credentials

Interfix is a family based business which has been progressively moving on and adapting since it was founded in 1985. By continually carrying out market research and integrating new technologies we have kept ourselves at the forefront of the washroom fit out sector.

We hold a fundamental principle that developing the natural skills and talents of our staff is a key way of creating dedicated personnel.

We create a project specific team for every contract to ensure turn-key project management with details of progress available to the client at anytime.

Our long track record of successfully completed projects and the fact that many of our early clients still continue to use and recommend us bears testimony to the quality of services we provide.

Our reputation is of every importance to us which is why we put so much emphasis on working closely with our clients from initial concept through to completion. Every project we undertake has our reputation staked to it.

environmental concerns

Interfix rates highly the importance of due regard for the environment.

Whilst delivering a market leading service in the design, provision and fitting of your washroom products, we care for the whole process of manufacturing and the materials used so as to cause minimal impact on the environment. This gives you the reassurance that best practice has been observed all along the line from start to finish.

Every care is therefore taken in the sourcing of our products, the level of eco-friendly methods used at all stages of manufacture and at all times the recycling of waste or, where necessary, the responsible method of disposal.

We like to share our ideals and goals with you so that the creation of inspired, beautiful washrooms goes hand in hand with respect for the environment that surrounds us.
