

Cell Division: Mitosis (Unlabeled)

DID YOU KNOW?

A cell splits into two through mitosis, also called cell division. During this process, the cell makes a second copy of each of its chromosomes, which contain all the information the cell needs to grow and survive. After cell division, each new cell then has one full set of chromosomes.

