Tornadoes in Estonia

We should express our gratitude to the OmniScriptum Publishing Group for the very precise and flexible cooperation. The book «Tornadoes in Estonia» was published and delivered exactly on the dates planned by editors. It was our first experience to publish a book without live contacts with publishers but at the same time very encouraging to continue in modern way.

President of Bulgarian Association of Agroforestry

Vania Kachova

Heavy metals in soils from urbanized oak ecosystems in Sofia region

My editor assisted me the whole the time and even did some additional work for me. I have gladly recommended your publishing house to my colleagues. I do not see anything that should be improved. The entire process of publishing was very fast and the cooperation with me was perfect!

PhD in Economics from Leipzig Graduate School of Management

Prof. Stephen Brock Schafer

Generating A Superconductive Culture of Conscience

I have been quite satisfied with Omniscriptum's publication processes. The process has been largely under my personal control. The fact that authors retain their copyrights is a practical approach to modern publishing. It allows authors complete flexibility in the open-source dissemination of their own works while providing global access to their research.

*Professor Emeritus of

On Language and Value in American Speech

I recommend Lambert Academic Publishing based on my favorable experience in the production of my book "On Language and Value in American Speech" (2019). All of the stages leading up to and including printing were dealt with expeditiously by my editor Alina Andriuta, who could be counted on at each point for a fulfilment of the task at hand. All in all, I was very pleased with Lambert AP.
