THERE'S nothing like the smell (and taste!) of bacon but cooking it can be a real pain in the neck to wash-up afterwards.

But now there's a gadget that could help solve that problem... and it's called a bacon toaster.

It can take up to six rashers at once

The upright grilling machine lets you cook up to six rashers at one time.

Its design means all the fat and grease runs off into a tray at the bottom, making it easier to clean.

And the bacon is ready to eat in two to three minutes, although you can leave it up to 12 minutes if you like it really crispy.

It's worth noting that it works in a similar way to a George Foreman grill, which can be bought for as little as £25.

The bacon toaster went down a storm when it was launched in the US last year and the sellers are hoping it will rasher (sorry!) off the shelves here too.

Shoppers over here have been able to order them from sellers across the pond but now there's a UK site selling it too.

You can remove the trays to clean them easily

It's now available to buy from Cuckooland.com but it comes with a pretty hefty price tag of £49.95.

Standard delivery costs £3.95 or you can get free delivery on orders over £50.

The homeware site is also offering a £10 off deal and free delivery when you spend over £100 but you must be a new customer.

Sausage and bacon prices have shot up by as much as 20 per cent in a year, according to food industry experts.
