

The Cipher Brief (Cipher Online Media, Inc)

National security is everyone's business.

The Cipher Brief is the only media outlet focused exclusively on bringing you a higher level of confidence around national security events via news, analysis, and interviews with government and private sector leaders. Where other news organizations tell you what happened, The Cipher Brief tells you what it means by working with a network of uniquely qualified experts who help provide context around events that impact global security.

The Cipher Brief is committed to publishing trusted, non-partisan information that brings together the expertise of the public and private sectors to provide stronger national security for all.

How We Help Transitioning Rangers

Many veterans have found meaningful careers in media after transitioning. We routinely have opportunities that range from student internships for journalism and analysis, entry level writers and analysts, editors, podcast producers, videography, event management and business support (marketing, sales, technology, accounting, legal).

Cipher Online Media COO Brad Christian is a former member of the Ranger Regiment (1/75) and understands the unique mindset, leadership capabilities and exceptional experience that transitioning Rangers bring to the private sector.
